
Proposed dependencies, not compulsory serial stages or a validated pathway.

Access is tested separately. Constitutive experience remains an explicit SAN hypothesis.

Suppression can increase useful influence without increasing total neural activity.